CBC Technical Inc. is a full-service audio, video and lighting production house. Our staff, comprised of local, experienced technicians, has worked with some of the biggest names in the entertainment industry - Ray Charles, Johnny Cash, Don Henly, Snoop Dogg, Cheap Trick, The Offspring, Social Distortion, White Stripes, BarlowGirl along with CNN, NBC, ABC, FOX Sports, and ESPN.

CBC Technical prides itself in community support assisting schools, churches and other non-profit organizations with their technical projects. From professional show productions, to installation consulting, repairs or upgrades on limited budgets, CBC has supported these groups in their undertakings. Eager to improve, we began upgrading, expanding, and replacing outdated technical systems for these organizations, along with performing arts centers.

Recently, we established an online outlet store, productionoutlet.com to better assist our customers. Purchasing new equipment - lamps and other expendable items - can now be done from the comfort of the home or office. CBC Technical's services and products have expanded to provide our customers with greater flexibility and ease when purchasing, upgrading, or installing new systems. CBC Technical will provide assistance whether an online equipment purchase or a custom built system.

Throughout the past several years, CBC Technical has concentrated on expanding our services and products so we can provide you, the customer, with greater flexibility and ease when purchasing, upgrading, or installing your new system. Whether you want to purchase expendables or equipment from the privacy of your own home, or have one of our professionals contact you to build a custom system, CBC Technical is there to assist you every step of the way. From sales to installations to live events our combined experience provides us with a well-rounded group of professionals making us a true one-stop shop for all of your production and installation needs.
